COMPASSIONATE NATURE

Kia Ora everyone, Photography is an art form that lets children express their connection and perceptions of Nature. This expression benefits us all!

Enjoy these beautiful photographs by students from Epsom Normal Primary, Remuera Intermediate and Roscommon schools.

Life is not back to normal around the world yet. New Zealand is in lockdown, after enjoying many months of near-normal life.

Impermanence is an enduring truth, but life feels more unstable than it has been in years. Hope good work happening around the world brings us back into balance.

I love ladybugs,
they are really amazing,
I admire them,
the bright blue cloth,
I like it!

VOICE OF THE STUDENTS

If I have trouble sleeping, I like to listen to water meditations. I love being near water and the way it makes me feel. I zone out for a second. I love going to the beach, or a river, or seeing an amazing waterfall. I love taking photos of the water as well as I like the way water can change. It can be very dramatic or very subtle.
